Dr. Parizad Elchidana
President - CRS Indian Chapter
(2019-2021)

My friends, this is my second year in office as the President of Controlled Release Society Indian Chapter (CRS IC), and it is that time of the year when we host our International Symposium. On this occasion of the 19th International Symposium on 'Advances in Technology and Business Potential of New Drug Delivery Systems', which is being held as a virtual event, I am delighted to share with you the 12th edition of CRS IC Newsletter highlighting various diversified technologies in drug delivery and innovative practices.

The pharmaceutical industry is responsible for the research, development, production, and distribution of medications and has been at the forefront of the battle against COVID 19, whether it is development of diagnostic kits or prophylactic vaccines or treatment. Hence the Pharma market has continued to experience significant growth even during the current pandemic times.

The Indian pharmaceutical industry is the world's third largest drug producer by volume and the country's manufacturing units manufacture 60 percent of vaccines globally. We have proved to be the world's largest vaccine manufacturer & supplier at low cost and affordable rates. This takes volumes of our intellect and capabilities.

Side by side, advances are happening globally in the field of biotechnology, nanotechnology, 3D printing, personalized medicine, gene therapy etc., but the importance of patient oriented research continues to play a pivotal role, thus stressing more and more on the importance of drug delivery and translational research.

CRS IC continues to be dedicated to research in drug delivery and supports and promotes scientific innovation nurturing young talent. I urge you all to join the organization and help us expand the base.

I sincerely thank the contributors to this newsletter along with the editorial team, for their persistent effort in launching this noteworthy edition of the CRS IC Newsletter !!

5-Day's Workshop on "Nano Drug Delivery Techniques"

Shri. Warana Vibhag Shikshan Mandal's Tatyasaheb Kore College of Pharmacy, Warananagar had organized 5- Day's Workshop on "Nano Drug Delivery Techniques" for the students, research scholars and teachers to know the importance and scope of nano technology in medicines. This workshop was organized in association with Makeintern and ECell IIT, Kharagpur and was scheduled from 20th – 24th February 2019. On first day of workshop, Dr. John D'souza, Principal TKCP, Warananagar felicitated the resource person Dr. Preetam Bala, IIT, Kharagur by offering bouquet as a token of love and appreciation. Then Dr. John D'souza introduced about the workshop and highlighted the significance of nanotechnology in medicines for targeting various diseases like cancers, infectious diseases, etc.

Dr. Preetam Bala delivered the first session on the nanoscience and nanotechnology history, definitions, applications in drug delivery techniques and its global perspective. He also described different nano drug delivery approaches such as polymer drug conjugates, liposomes, solid lipid nanoparticles, microemulsions, dendrimers, polymeric micelles, nanocapsules, metal based nanoparticles and quantum data etc. He had explained the advantages and disadvantages, methods of preparations, applications, characterizations and suitability of these nanocarriers for targeting the different types of diseases.

Besides, he had explained and conducted the practicals like green synthesis of metal nanoparticles (Gold, Silver, Copper Nanoparticles) using neem leaves, tea powder and sugar and it's evaluations. He also provided hands on training on the chemical synthesis of drug loaded nanoparticles. Then the prepared nanoparticles were evaluated for the drug content and drug release mechanism using dialysis technique. Dr. Preetam had also explained the release assay data interpretation and calculations. In addition, Dr. Preetam discussed the various characterization techniques for the nanoparticles including Transmission Electron Microscopy (TEM), Scanning Electron Microscopy (SEM), Thermogravimetric Analysis (TGA), Atomic Force Microscopy (AFM), Contact angle analysis, GC-MS, XRD and FTIR, etc. along with their importance and interpretation details.

He had conducted the written test (Objective Type) for the students on the content he has delivered in the workshop. On last day of the workshop he had conducted presentations of the students wherein he asked the students to present contents which they gained throughout this workshop. Based on the marks obtained by the students in written test and presentations Dr. Preetam had selected top five students for the next training and project presentation round, to be conducted at the IIT, Kharagpur. In valedictory function, on last day, the certificates were given to merit students (selected top 05 participants) and all other participants. The workshop was then closed with the Vote of thanks.

(2019-2021)

Hi Friends, this is my second year in office as the President of Controlled Release Society Indian Chapter (CRS IC), and it is that time of the year when we host our International Symposium. On this occasion of the 19th International Symposium on 'Advances in Technology and Business Potential of New Drug Delivery Systems', which is being held as a virtual event, I am delighted to share with you the 12th edition of CRS IC Newsletter highlighting various diversified technologies in drug delivery and innovative practices.

The pharmaceutical industry is responsible for the research, development, production, and distribution of medications and has been at the forefront of the battle against COVID 19, whether it is development of diagnostic kits or prophylactic vaccines or treatment. Hence the Pharma market has continued to experience significant growth even during the current pandemic times.

The Indian pharmaceutical industry is the world's third largest drug producer by volume and the country's manufacturing units manufacture 80 percent of vaccines globally. We have proved to be the world's largest vaccine manufacturer & supplier at low cost and affordable rates. This talks volumes of our intellect and capabilities.

Side by side, advances are happening globally in the field of biotechnology, nanotechnology, 3D printing, personalized medicine, gene therapy etc., but the importance of patient oriented research continues to play a pivotal role, thus stressing more and more on the importance of drug delivery and translational research.

CRS IC continues to be dedicated to research in drug delivery and supports and promotes scientific innovation nurturing young talent. I urge you all to join the organization and help us expand the base.

I sincerely thank the contributors to this newsletter along with the editorial team, for their persistent effort in launching this noteworthy edition of the CRS IC Newsletter !!

02 Controlled Release Society Indian Chapter February 2021

From the President

Dr. Parizad Elchidana
President - CRS Indian Chapter
(2019-2021)

Hi friends, this is my second year in office as the President of Controlled Release Society Indian Chapter (CRS IC), and it is that time of the year when we host our International Symposium. On this occasion of the 19th International Symposium on 'Advances in Technology and Business Potential of New Drug Delivery Systems', which is being held as a virtual event, I am delighted to share with you the 12th edition of CRS IC Newsletter highlighting various diversified technologies in drug delivery and innovative practices.

The pharmaceutical industry is responsible for the research, development, production, and distribution of medications and has been at the forefront of the battle against COVID 19, whether it is development of diagnostic kits or prophylactic vaccines or treatment. Hence the Pharma market has continued to experience significant growth even during the current pandemic times.

The Indian pharmaceutical industry is the world's third largest drug producer by volume and the country's manufacturing units manufacture 60 percent of vaccines globally. We have proved to be the world's largest vaccine manufacturer & supplier at low cost and affordable rates. This talks volumes of our intellect and capabilities.

Side by side, advances are happening globally in the field of biotechnology, nanotechnology, 3D printing, personalized medicine, gene therapy etc., but the importance of patient oriented research continues to play a pivotal role, thus stressing more and more on the importance of drug delivery and translational research.

CRS IC continues to be dedicated to research in drug delivery and supports and promotes scientific innovation nurturing young talent. I urge you all to join the organization and help us expand the base.

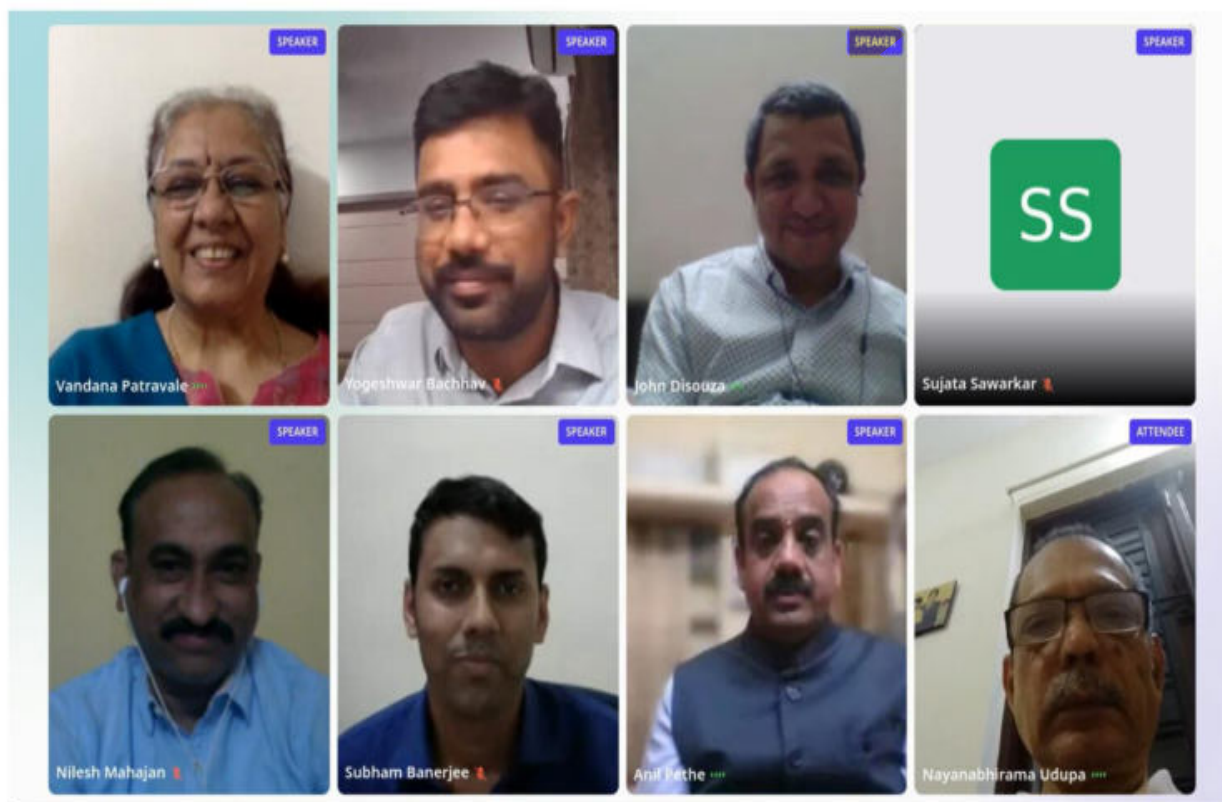

I sincerely thank the contributors to this newsletter along with the editorial team, for their persistent effort in launching this noteworthy edition of the CRS IC Newsletter !!

Proceedings of the program

Presently major revamps are taking place in higher education (HE). Global challenges including global warming, depletion of the natural resources, prevalence of the infectious diseases, technological advancements are imparting the expectations of the HE. Traditional learning in Indian colleges and universities is largely comprised of lecture system and has many pitfalls as compared to the global Scenario. The shift from a tradition-based, primarily a theoretical educational process expects innovative teaching pedagogies, strategies in research and development along with profound understanding of experience of industrial settings. The use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in education system may be the next step where the role of teacher will be negligible in teaching learning process. So it is needed to train the teacher to acquire more knowledge, skills and attitude which can be percolated in students through teaching-learning process.

With this major objective Tatyasaheb Kore College of Pharmacy, Warananagar has organised AICTE-ISTE Sponsored 6 days Induction/ Refresher Programme on 'Fostering Pedagogies, Research Administration; Vital Domains for Effective Professional Academic Career'. This refreshers programme was organised in online mode and with three phases.

Phase – I (19/03/2021 to 25/03/2021)

The eminent personalities from education sector like Dr. Vandana Patravale, Professor of Pharmaceutics at the Institute of Chemical Technology, Mumbai was present for the inaugural ceremony.

Publication malpractice

Threat to science: Predatory journals are on the rise

Driving forces

- Publish or perish - For many academics, career progression depends on the research papers they publish.
- Technology – easy to set up a website, spamming thousands of potential authors and receiving electronic payments
- Inexperience / Online environment – working online without access to expertise to distinguish bogus impact factors etc.
- Exploitation of the open access model - Pay-to-publish model misused*

* In "conventional" journal publishing, journals generate revenue by selling them to libraries on a subscription basis. Open-access, on the other hand, often involves publishers charging an upfront "author fee" to cover costs—then making the papers available online for free. The open-access movement has produced many well-respected publishers, including PLoS and BioMed Central as well as Elsevier!!

Proceedings of the program and Completion Report

As rightly said – “teaching must always aim more than imparting knowledge, and learning must always aim more than just absorbing facts”. The aim of education must not be just producing graduates but the responsible, sensitive-yet-strong, contributing citizens with positive attitude, great values and dispositions. And to see this achieved ‘effective learning’, ‘high quality research addressing societal problems’ and ‘community involvement’ are considered as indicators of good education.

Teachers are the most important and critical stakeholders of the education system. Hence this AICTE sponsored Short Term Training Programme (STTP) was planned with following objectives;

- Train teachers in 21st century effective teaching techniques (ETTs);
- Imbibe research skills to equip them to undertake quality research projects addressing local and global issues;
- Sensitize teachers about community engagement projects, which can enhance their professional image as teachers and pharmacist;

Factors that influence Online Teaching

Online teaching is not a typical one-time effort. It is an ongoing process. There are five dimensions to strong development:

- Self – personal teaching philosophy and skills
- Students – how do they learn and retain information
- Content – essential outcomes are critical to successful learning
- Process – igniting learning through effective design
- Context – learning environments that enhance outcomes

Self - Teaching Philosophy

- I am myself as a professional and guide
- I am my own as a facilitator or guide
- My beliefs and philosophy for teaching
- I can help others to learn and to be successful
- I am not an instructor
- I am not a teacher
- My approach to teaching is student based
- Making them "lighter on the stage" & "heavier in the room" & "thinner in the room"

6. Elicit Performance

This principle is about confirming learner's understanding by immediately requiring them to apply that knowledge.

Such as taking a brief quiz or demonstrating what they learned in a group exercise or simulated scenario

2. DATA ANALYSIS

- Data should be appropriately analyzed.
- Inappropriate analysis does not necessarily amount to misconduct.
- Fabrication and falsification of data do constitute misconduct.
- All sources and methods used to obtain and analyze data, including any electronic pre-processing, should be fully disclosed; detailed explanations should be provided for any exclusions & referenced.

5. Tap into collective intelligence and the wisdom of the crowd

The broader the circles of information you access, the more likely it is that your solutions will be novel and creative

It's a mistake to think that your team has the smartest people in the room. They aren't there. They're invariably somewhere else. Nor do they need to be there if you can access their intelligence via other means.

6. Show and tell to drive action

The show-and-tell mindset

Proceedings of the program and Report

Global health is playing an increasingly crucial role in global and national security. We witnessed it during COVID-19 pandemic. The virus originated in China causing Global health and economic crisis. Since the 1970's newly emerging diseases have been identified at an unprecedented rate and it is high time that every nation should enhance global capacities for responding to infectious disease threats and should take leadership roles in promoting - comprehensive, real time, global 'infectious disease surveillance system' for rapid identification and rapid control of emerging diseases. DIAGNOSTIC NEEDS IN THE INDIAN MARKET

Kinds of tests

- Affordable, user friendly, have real clinical value, high specificity and high sensitivity
- Purchasing decision often depends on perceived value and utility (i.e. if a patient can afford it or if a public hospital can provide it free of charge or on low cost.)
- Multiplexed test kits favored instead of separate single tests
- Tolerance to extreme weather conditions during storage and transport (lack of well developed cold chain infrastructure especially in rural areas)
- Rapid tests for diagnosis of communicable diseases are essential as well as tests for neonatal sepsis and pneumonia.
- Pharmaceutical requirements
- Disposal of diagnostic kit parts after use

Point-of-care (POC) tests

Tuberculosis	Rotaviral infections	Avian Influenza
Malaria	Arthritis	Typhoid
Dengue	Biochemical markers (urea, creatinine, C-reactive protein...)
Hepatitis B&C	Circulating cancer antigens
Syphilis
Neonatal HIV (undiagnosed until 18 months of age)
Cardiovascular diseases	Diabetes

Hands-On-Training: Production of Drug-loaded Liposomes by Thin Film Hydration Technique

Expert: Dr. Arehalli Manjappa

- Formation of Thin Lipid Film: Dissolve the Drug (Diclofenac) and the lipid phase (Hydrogenated soya phosphatidylcholine; HSPC and Cholesterol) in chloroform and methanol solvent mixture (2:1 ratio, v/v). Attach the round bottom flask containing solution to rotary evaporator, evacuate, and rotate at 120 rpm in a thermo stated water bath maintained at 45±1°C. Allow the process to continue until all solvent had evaporated and a dry thin lipid film had deposited on walls of the flask.
- Hydration of Lipid Film: Hydrate the dry lipid film with double distilled water (20mL) at above glass transition temperature of lipids (80±1°C) for 30 min. Then, transfer the liposomal dispersion to volumetric flask, diluted with double distilled water and annealed by keeping in a water bath maintained at 80±1°C for about 1h.
- Production of Small Unilamellar Vesicles (SUVs)

Probe-sonicate the obtained multilamellar vesicles for 1 min (6 cycles of 10 sec each). After each cycle keep the dispersion at 80±1°C for 2 min that helps to reform liposomes after probe sonication. Repeat the same for 2 more cycles. Centrifuge the sonicated liposomal dispersion at 6000 rpm for 10 min to separate unloaded drug and analyze the supernatant for drug content.

Hands-On-Training: Production of Drug-loaded Proliposome by Spray-Drying Technique

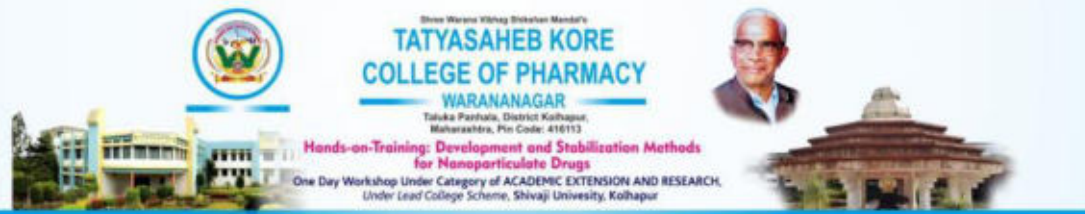

Expert: Mrs. Sunita Shinde

1. Dissolve the Drug and the Carriers (Phospholipids; Soya phosphatdylcholine or other phospholipids and Cholesterol) at different molar ratios in 100mL of 95% ethanol (other solvents can be used alone and in combination with ethanol to obtain clear solution)
2. Add Mannitol (Sucrose and Trehalose can also be used) as Cryoprotectant/ Adsorbent to above solution/ Suspension
3. Sonicate the suspension for 15 min in order to deaggregate mannitol particles before the spray drying process began
4. Stir the suspension continuously during spray drying to provide homogeneity of the suspension
5. Set the inlet temperature of 90°C, atomizer pressure of 800 KPa, feed rate of 3 mL/min, and outlet temperature of 70 ± 1°C.
6. Transfer the proliposome powder from the collecting chamber into a desiccator until further use

The scheme of proliposome production by spray drying technique. (a) ethanolic lipid solution containing drug; (b) dispersion of fine mannitol in ethanolic lipid solution containing drug; (c) spray drying processes; (d) proliposome powder product; and (e) reconstituted proliposome powder

Hands-On-Training: Preparation of SMEDS and their Nanoemulsion using HPH

Expert: Mr. Popat Kumbhar

- Weigh required quantity of oil (sesame oil), surfactant (tween 80) and co-surfactant (PEG4000) and mix all these components in a beaker.
- Add the weighed quantity of drug (diclofenac) into the mixture of oil, surfactant and co-surfactant, and dissolve with stirring.
- Finally, add water dropwise into the above mixture that leads to the formation of emulsion.
- Subject the prepared emulsion for HPH to obtain nanoemulsion.
- Store the resultant SNEDDS in glass vials.

Hands-On-Training: Preparation of Micelles by Solvent Evaporation Technique

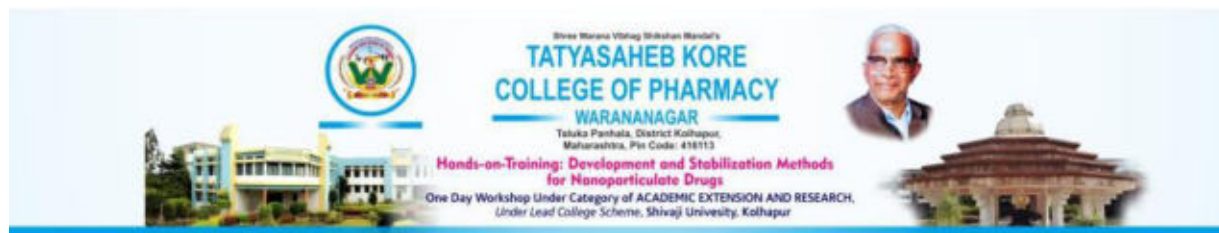

Expert: Mr. Kiran Patil

Formulation: Preparation of Mixed Micelles (MMs)

- Formulation of MMs: MMs are self-assembled core-shell nanostructures formed in an aqueous solution consisting of amphiphilic block copolymers. The formation of micelles in an aqueous solution occurs when the concentration of the block copolymer increases above a certain concentration named the critical aggregation concentration (CAC) or critical micelle concentration (CMC). At the CAC or CMC, hydrophobic segments of block copolymers start to associate to minimize the contact with water molecules, leading to the formation of a vesicular or core-shell micellar structure
- Preparation of DTX-loaded Soluplus with PF108 MMs (DSP MMs) by Solvent Evaporation Process:
Take the required quantity of the drug Docetaxel (2.5 mg) and add block copolymers Soluplus (365 mg) with PF108 (45 mg) in the ratio (1:1) in the beaker. Add 1 mL of organic solvents (methanol) to the mixture and subject to the sonication until the complete mixture dissolves in the solvent. Add this solution dropwise into 10 mL distilled water and stirred at 500 rpm at room temperature. Further, stir the mixture until the complete evaporation of methanol. Dilute the resulting solution to 10 mL and Centrifuge the solution to get at 5000 rpm to get a clear supernatant of Micelle's (DSP MMs) solution.

Hands-On-Training: Production of Drug-loaded Niosomes by Thin Film Hydration Technique

Expert: Miss. Uma Mali

- Formulation of MMs

Dissolve the Drug (Diclofenac) and Surfactant/ Lipid phase (Poloxamer-237 and Cholesterol) in chloroform and methanol solvent mixture (2:1 ratio, v/v). Attach the round bottom flask containing solution to rotary evaporator, evacuate, and rotate at 120 rpm in a thermo stated water bath maintained at $65 \pm 1^\circ\text{C}$. Allow the process to continue until all solvent had evaporated and a dry thin film had deposited on walls of the flask.

- Hydration of Film

Hydrate the dry lipid film with 20mL phosphate buffer (pH 7.4) at 65°C for 15 min at a rotation speed of 150 rpm

- Production of Small Unilamellar Vesicles (SUVs)

Probe-sonicate the obtained large niosomal vesicles for 5 min (1 min cycle). Keep the niosomal dispersion at $65 \pm 1^\circ\text{C}$ for 1 min after each cycle and at room temperature for 30 min after completion of 5 cycles, and then store in a refrigerator.

Hands-On-Training: Stabilization of Nanoparticles (Micelles and Liposomes) by Lyophilization & Vacuum Foam Drying Techniques

Expert: Mr. Kiran Patil

- Select critical temperatures and carry out the lyophilization. Accurately measured 1mL of DSP MMs solution was filled in glass vials (3 mL capacity). Add Suitable cryoprotectants Mannitol (200 mg) / Sucrose (200mg) Keep the solutions for pre-freezing at -40°C for 6 h in a deep freezer. Keep prefrozen vials in the lyophilizer and apply shelf temperature of -42°C and vacuum 0.01hPa for 72 h (condenser temperature -54°C). Analyze the lyophilized mixtures for DTX content, residual moisture, diffraction pattern, reconstitution time.
